REPORT OF SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

For the Fall and Winter Terms of the Year 1902-3.

To the School Board of Fitzwilliam:

I have the honor to submit my report as supervisor of schools. For information as to the number of pupils, etc., I respectfully refer you to the statistical tables following this report.

LENGTH OF THE SCHOOL YEAR.

A school year of thirty weeks does not give time to achieve the results today demanded. The average length of the last school year for the state of Massachusetts was thirty-seven weeks. Marlboro offers thirty-six weeks in every school and in every grade. Fitzwilliam has the Marlboro course of study. It is hard to do six days work in five. The attempt encourages a lack of thoroughness. Nine years of thirty weeks each are equivalent to only seven and one-half years of thirty-six weeks each. The schools are really on a basis of seven and a half grades before the high school. The exceptionally good results, under the circumstances, obtained in some of the schools are largely due to the very hard work put into them by the teachers. It is difficult to retain such teachers while offering so short a term of employment. It is to the annual salary that the teacher looks. The long winter vacation, coming in the most unpleasant part of the year, is no inducement. Eight dollars a week for thirty-six weeks is better by eighteen dollars than nine dollars a week for thirty weeks. It costs a town more per week to employ teachers for a short school year, and for this money there is absolutely no return. I join in the wish of my predecessor, as expressed in his last report, that "in some way means shall be provided to give them (the children) from thirty to thirty-six weeks each year in length, that they may do equally as much, and as good school work as is being done in Troy, Marlboro or Winchendon."

If this does not now seem practicable the present opportunities should be used to the utmost. Parents should realize that none too much schooling is available and should strive to have their children get the advantage of every bit of it. Where the parents are indifferent, stricter enforcement of the truancy laws would compel the attendance of a small number who by their inexcusable absences delay their own progress and retard that of their class.

ADVANTAGES AND DISADVANTAGES.

It may seem from Table A., that the number of grades to a teacher is large. State Line has six and Bowkerville nine. The difficulties attending such a condition are great. The recitation must be very short, the teacher on her mettle all the time. There is no opportunity properly to develop a lesson before a class, which is a large part of the work of real teaching. The course of study is necessarily limited. Little time is found for much that is of real value.

The situation is, however, not without its advantages. We say, "the teacher makes the school." It is just as true that the pupil makes the school. Those who have reflected most credit upon "the little red schoolhouse" have owed their progress mainly to themselves. Short recitations mean more time for study. The loose grading and absence of "machinery" in general give the individual the chance to develop in his own way. To the many, all this proves a stumbling block, to some, a stepping stone.

The co-operation of parents and teachers in the effort to encourage and direct the work of the children, would help to overcome the disadvantages of a short year and crowded grades. A wise guidance of the reading that the children do out of school would accomplish much.

BOOKS AND SUPPLIES.

Good books and abundant supplies are to the teacher what modern machinery and plenty of sharp tools are to the mechanic.

Beginning with the lowest grades, children should be taught to take care of their books. As much patience will be needed as in teaching arithmetic. A good deal of damage done is simply the result of ignorance. Pupils need to be shown many little things, for example, how to open a new book for the first time without injury to the binding. They should be directed and encouraged to report any mishap, such as the tearing of a leaf, as soon as it occurs. If every teacher's desk were supplied with repairing materials, the book could quickly be mended. There would be considerable direct saving and the example set the pupils could not fail to have its effect.

A pupil who has abused a book never ought to be given a good one in its place unless he pays for it. A child who, on the other hand treats the property loaned him as he should is entitled to books that are in good condition.

It is desirable to have an inventory taken every year. In this, the condition as well as the number of the different books should be stated. It would show just where all the books were and prevent some needed in one school remaining unused in another. It would also lead to a distribution according to the needs of the different schools. Without such a system, that teacher is likely to fare best who importunes loudest.

In cases of contagious disease, the utmost vigilance needs to be exercised lest infected books that may be at home find their way back into the school and be distributed to other pupils. I take it for granted that those in the pupil's desk will be promptly disinfected. The surest disinfectant is fire.

Parents are responsible for the usage given school property by their children. They ought willingly to recognize this. A note from the teacher stating that a book has been needlessly injured should be met by a prompt payment for the same.

It is a pity that more parents do not take advantage of that provision of the law which requires that school boards shall sell text-books to pupils at cost. A child ought at least to own an arithmetic and a grammar and keep them after leaving school as reference books.

From Table B, it may be seen that the average expenditures for books and supplies in Fitzwilliam for the past four years falls much below that of the County and State. The very small figures of 1899 and 1900 are naturally followed by larger ones in 1901 and 1902. Of the Massachusetts average the secretary of the State Board of Education says: "The average of $1.54 per pupil is certainly a very reasonable one. It could be raised a few cents with profit." The New Hampshire state average for last year of $1.38 is certainly not an extravagant sum with which to supply a pupil for a year with books and supplies of all kinds, and at the same time provide all articles for general use such as chalk, maps, globes, reference books, etc. The average membership has decreased since last year. Table A shows a probable enrollment of 156 for next spring. An average of $1.38 multiplied by an estimated average membership of 147 would give about $200. An inventory taken last fall showed that there was need of a considerable number of new books. I recommend that $200 be appropriated for books and supplies for the ensuing year.

SCHOOLHOUSES.

It would be advantageous if some way could be found to carry off the water that floods the cellar of the Columbian school. The roof of the building also needs attention.

At small expense Number 10 could be made more comfortable in the winter time. The wind now enters through cracks in the floor and walls.

At Bowkerville there is need of more blackboard.

The school at State Line is one of the largest in town. The building is a substantial one. It would seem that an outlay sufficient to make the interior more attractive would be justifiable.

Respectfully submitted,

HENRY B. STEARNS.

Marlboro, N. H., Feb. 25, 1903.

REPORT OF BOARD OF HEALTH.

During the past year only four cases of contagious diseases have appeared, three of scarlet fever and one of measles, all terminating favorably.

The general sanitary condition of the town has been good, no serious complaints having been made to the board.

The board was represented at the annual meeting of the State Board of Health at Concord, by Arthur Byam, a representative being required by the state laws.

Three samples of water from different sources were sent to the state laboratory at Concord for analysis, and all were condemned as unfit for use. We would again urge any who are using water which they suspect is impure to have it analyzed at the state laboratory.

GEO. S. EMERSON, M. D.,
ARTHUR T. BYAM,
Board of Health of Fitzwilliam.

REPORT OF FIREWARDS.

There have been four fires reported the past year.

April 24, an alarm was given for a forest fire on the land of Mrs. Patrick Daley.

May 13, an alarm was given for a forest fire on the land of R. L. Angier.

May 14, an alarm was given for a fire on the land of Messrs. Perry and Paul.

July 13, house and barn, the property of Martha Prentice, was destroyed by fire; cause of fire unknown; no alarm was given.

July 23, saw and grist mill, the property of S. S. Stone, was destroyed by fire; no alarm was given.

The fire engine has been thoroughly overhauled and put in good condition.

There have been two very narrow escapes from fires by putting ashes in wooden vessels too near buildings, and the firewards have adopted regulations agreeable to chapter 115, section 12, Public Statutes of New Hampshire.

I. No person shall take or remove any ashes from any stove, fireplace, furnace, steam boiler or other place of fire, and place or keep said ashes in any wooden vessel unless said vessel is placed and kept more than twenty-five feet from any building or accumulation of combustible material.

II. No person shall kindle or make any fire in the open air except the same shall be constantly under the immediate watch and care of some competent person.

III. Any person who shall violate any of the above regulations shall for each offense forfeit a sum not to exceed twenty dollars. Said regulations shall take effect from and after the eleventh day of March next.

Given under our hands at Fitzwilliam, this ninth day of February, 1903.

CHARLES L. HASKELL,
WINFIELD M. CHAPLIN,
JOSEPH M. DERBY,
Firewards of the town of Fitzwilliam, N. H.

I certify that the above regulations were duly rendered on the ninth day of February, 1903.

JULIUS H. FIRMIN,

A true copy of regulations, attest:

We would again call the attention of the citizens of the town to the provisions of Chapter 8 of the Public Statutes, and Chapter 118 of the laws of 1895, in relation to the establishment and maintenance of free public libraries. Our library is in much need of a card catalogue, which is universally recognized as the only kind which can be kept up to date. And we trust the town will vote an appropriation for this worthy object at its annual meeting.

We gratefully acknowledge the receipt of various reports and public documents from the state and general government during the past year.

History of America's Cup, from Thos. Lawson.

Our library is rapidly increasing in number of volumes, and in usefulness as a great factor in the education morally, intellectually and socially of all our citizens, both old and young, and we are in great need of a suitable and convenient new building for its home, and we trust that ere long some way may be devised for the erection of such a building for the safe storage of its valuable treasures of learning, history, science and art.

By the terms of the will of John J. Allen, Jr., late of Keene, a native and former citizen of Fitzwilliam, upon the death of his widow, which occurred in the month of August last, the town of Fitzwilliam came into immediate possession of his valuable library, including all his pictures, engravings and works of art. This library is still stored in his former homestead in Keene, and can be removed and made available in connection with our town library as soon as suitable and sufficient cases can be provided for the same. And your supervisors respectfully recommend that an appropriation of fifty dollars ($50) be made at our annual March meeting to furnish suitable cases and the expense of the removal of the Allen library to Fitzwilliam.

Your supervisors have recently been informed of the bequest of Albert M. Knight, late of Waltham, Mass., deceased, to the town of Fitzwilliam, of his valuable library, the same to become available to the town upon the event of the death of his sister. We are informed that it is not a large library, but a very choice and valuable collection of scientific, historical and miscellaneous books, and will be a very valuable addition to our town library.

Respectfully submitted,

ANNIE L. COLBY,
Librarian.
